Of A' the Airts the Wind Can Blaw

(Miss Admiral Gordon's Strathspey)
By Robert Burns
Arranged by Gary Jugert

Verse 1
Of [G] all the ways the wind can blow I [D] dearly love the [Em] west, for it's [G] there my bonnie lassie lives. The [C] lass I love the [D] best. Though wild woods grow and rivers flow with [C] many a hill be- [Em] tween. Both the [G] day and night my fancy's flight is [D] ever with my [G] Jean. Oh I see her in the dewy flower so
[C] lovely sweet and [Em] fair. Yes I [G] hear her voice in ev'ry bird their [C] music charms the air. There's [D] not a bonnie flower that springs by [C] fountain shaw or green, nor
[G] yet a bonnie bird that sings, but reminds me of my Jean.

Verse 2
Oh [G] blow you western winds blow soft a- [D] mong the leafy
[Em] trees with [G] gentle gale from hill and dale bring [C] home the laden
[D] bees, and bring my lassie back to me that's [C] oh so neat and [Em] clean. Just one [G] blink of her would banish cares so [D] lovely is my [G] Jean. What sighs and vows among the knolls has [C] passed between us [Em] two. Oh how [G] sweet to meet, such woe to part that [C] day she went away, and the [D] powers above can only know to [C] whom the heart is seen. No,
[G] none can be so dear to me as my sweet lovely Jean. [C] [D] [G]
